

WALNUT HILL
SCHOOL FOR THE ARTS

Teachers! ARE YOU LOOKING FOR INNOVATIVE WAYS TO INCLUDE THE ARTS AND CREATIVE THINKING IN YOUR TEACHING?

This Professional Development course is perfect for you!

“MINDS IN MOTION: ENHANCED THINKING THROUGH THE ARTS”

Sponsored by Arts/Learning and Walnut Hill School for the Arts

Offered on 2 Saturdays in Spring 2010, this course demonstrates how the Arts are taught through Critical and Creative Thinking and how Thinking is enhanced through the Arts. A variety of hands-on activities will provide applications to various subjects in curricula and is designed for elementary and secondary teachers who seek unique teaching strategies. The emphasis will be how to help teachers and students stretch their imaginations to integrate the Arts and Creative Thinking into all aspects of teaching and learning.

- Leaders: Elaine Sisler, Endicott College
Miriam Kronish, Cambridge College
John Hooker, Bridgewater State College
Nina Greenwald, UMass-Boston
David Martin, UMass-Boston
- When: Saturday April 10, 2010, 9am to 4pm
Saturday May 8, 2010, 9am to 4pm
- Where: Walnut Hill School, Natick, Mass.
- Cost: $75, which includes cost of One Credit from Cambridge College, and buffet lunch at each course session. Make check out to Arts/Learning.
- Registration: Complete the attached form and send by March 20, 2010 in care of:
Arts/Learning at Walnut Hill, 12 Highland St., Natick, MA 01760
- Textbooks: 2 short texts will be needed for the course; participants should order these and read them prior to Session 1. Titles will be sent when registration is received; both are available on Amazon.com.
- Questions? Contact David Martin at davidmartindr@aol.com, or 508-420-0224

